paper-oh[®]

Paper-Oh[®] notebooks at first glance appear minimal and simple. Closer observation reveals that they push the boundaries and conventions of bookbinding and paper arts. These notebooks are the product of our passion for design and our obsession with making things better than what already exists.

Run your hand along the graceful patterning of our Circulo series, trace the pleasing symmetry of Quadro and marvel at the expressive textures in Yuko-ori. From the playful ridges of corrugated cardboard to the ineffable grace of Japanese origami patterning, our Paper-Oh[®] notebooks emphasise the tactile elements of bookmaking in subtle and surprising ways.

Through the collaborative efforts of bookbinding designer Nadine Werner in Berlin and the Hartley & Marks Paper-Oh[®] Development group in Vancouver, this catalogue is the perfect example of how we have brought together the collective experience of our team to create a wonderfully simple and dramatically unique vessel that offers our Paper-Oh[®] collections.

FEATURES

Binding & Construction

- Our notebooks are designed with the expectation that people value objects that are functional.
- We work with layers of paper for both our covers and endpapers.
- In order to make them more flexible, our notebooks are Smyth sewn with minimal glue on the spine.
- To ensure the notebooks open completely flat, we developed a special technique that involves “scoring” along the spine.

Texture & Touch

- We embrace the fact that Paper-Oh® notebooks will wear over time and show the marks of an individual’s life and creativity.
- To introduce texture and interest we score, emboss and perforate our paper covers. Our Ondulo covers even lend a creative canvas to those who wish to create their own patterns and designs by pressing down on the corrugated ridges.

The elegant aspect of each Paper-Oh® design is contained in the adage that form must follow function. The special touches we’ve added have meaning, sincerity and authenticity. Every detail of a Paper-Oh® notebook adds to its character and identity.

FEATURES

Quality

The original prototypes of our notebooks are first handmade by a master bookbinder. Once we have perfected the original version, we then find the means to produce it in much larger quantities using innovative production techniques. With the final assembled copies set against the standards of our perfect model, we make no compromise for limitation – even if it means modifying our binding machines to meet our needs.

Paper

Our writing paper is sourced 100% from sustainable forests and is uncoated, meaning it is left natural with no added veneer. The unbleached paper is a cream colour and we run it through an additional press to make it satisfyingly smooth and ideal for writing, drawing or sketching. We offer lined or unlined formats for all of our notebooks. For our Cahiers only, we also offer a grid pattern.

NATURAL

Corrugation suggests a certain toughness of spirit with a nod to the playful side of life. In our Ondulo series we've taken corrugated cardboard and adapted it to create the essential minimalist notebook. Paper-Oh® notebooks feel every bit as good as they look. Each Ondulo will develop its own well-worn, well-loved look as a physical manifestation of its user's well-lived life.

The circle. Perfection achieved through geometry, and a classic symbol of the imagination. Our Circulo series is a pure expression of design at its most elemental and satisfying. Besides all that, is there anyone who can resist the simple charm of a polka dot?

Paper-Oh® Cahier notebooks are the quintessential companion for observers, wanderers and bons vivants. Packaged in pairs, they are the bohemian cousins of the more established journal set and are flexible enough for use in any situation. But do not underestimate their sturdiness, for they will withstand the journeys of any life with strength and grace.

The background is a gradient of purple, transitioning from a lighter shade on the left to a darker shade on the right. Two large, curved, overlapping shapes in a darker purple hue sweep across the frame from the bottom left towards the top right. A thin, light-colored line also curves across the upper portion of the image, intersecting the darker shapes.

Limited Edition Series: Exclusive to our First Season Collection

Unexpected details transform tiny touches into lasting delights. Peek-holes and elastic closures make this simple notebook simultaneously classic and unconventional. Contrasting colour on the outside page edges further distinguishes Buco from the crowd.

POINT OF SALE MATERIAL

FREE-STANDING DISPLAY

Approximately 200 cm x 40 cm²

The Paper-Oh® display is built to be noticed. Designed by Berlin architect Axel Pohl, it is composed of different units that fit together to form a multi-tier display. Each unit is sized to accommodate a particular notebook format for a functional and attractive way to display the full Paper-Oh® collection. The free-standing display includes white headers and a rotating base with wheels. The interchangeable units can be rearranged in many ways – let your creativity take you to great heights!
